mentioned. You are a very dear sister to me. If I have seemed far away, maybe its because I know you are just isn't. But I know that soon we will all be together. Next year we will be in the same school. You are so great!! Pray for me. And no matter what happens. I love love

You have helped me in so many ways. I'll always love you as

Reach Out '70

This year is a time of growth. New buildings are a sign of the increase in the school's size. As the school enlarges, the students so increase in their viewpoints and broaden their range of experiences. The new gym, the annex of classrooms, and the many new students are signs of the school's physical growth, but just as important is the mental and social growth of its students. Since this year is a time of expansion, the people of MSHS will REACH OUT. The little man on the cover urges each person to reach out beyond himself and into the world.

They don't call me "winkle toes" for nothing.

MSHS Flower Power grown here.

Happiness is a first down.

These pictures, taken by our candid camera, captured some of the unusual people or events at Marion Senior High School. They were evidence of the various other areas where each person in the school tried to reach out and broaden his experiences. As the student looks back at these pictures, he will remember it like it was.

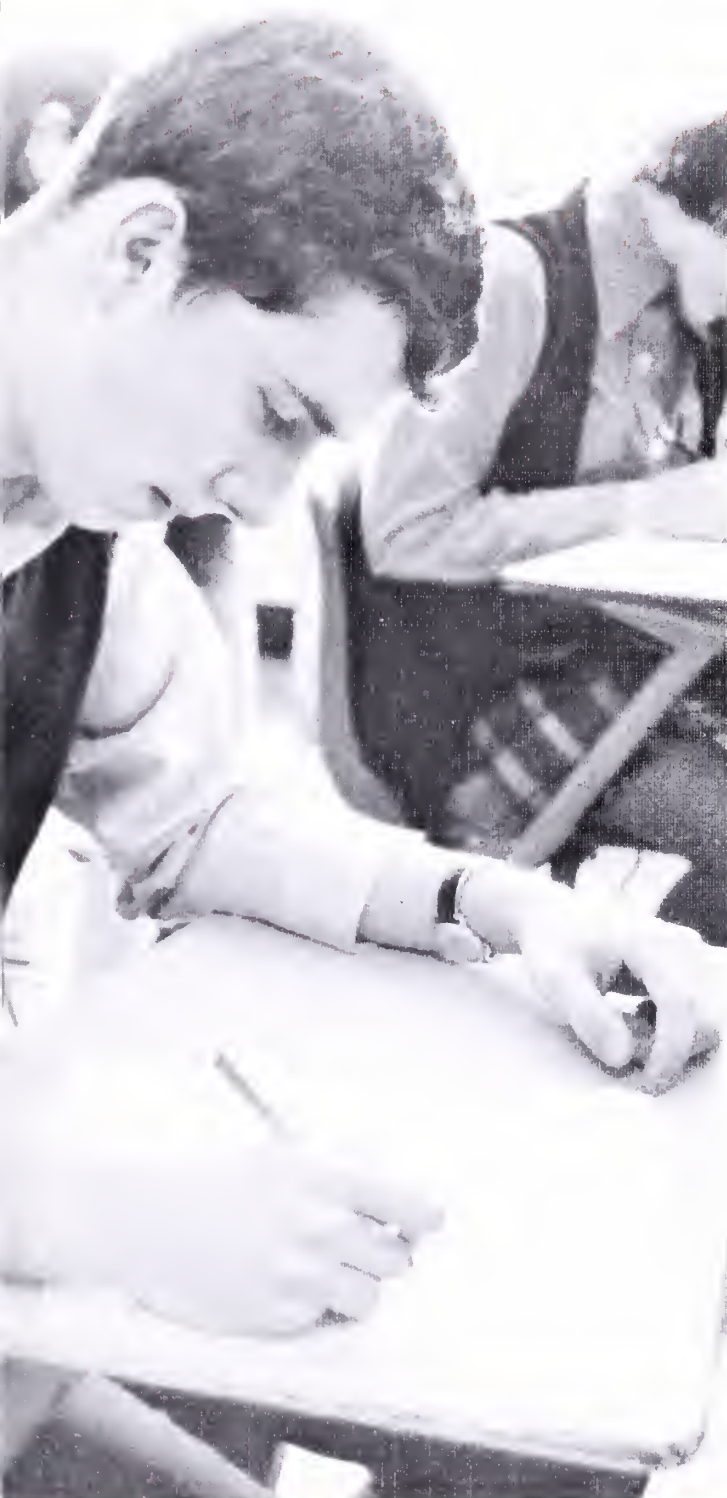

Boo!

Academics

The heart of the school was seen in the education process. Administration, faculty, and classes—each group reached out to fulfill our school's prime motive, a good education.

County Administrators

We were indebted to the Smyth County Board of Supervisors and the School Board for their efforts to provide good education in Smyth County. This year we gave them our special thanks for the new buildings that show their foresight and their determination to make learning an efficient and beneficial process.

Smyth County School: FRONT ROW: William C. Kelly; Mrs. Jayce Carnett; J. Leonard Mauck, Superintendent; Francis J. Copenhaver, Chairman; W. P. Buchanan. SECOND ROW: S. D. Scott; Robert A. Hunter; Earle S. Horne; Latan E. Choate; Ralph B. Comer.

Dr. J. Leonard Mauck, Smyth County Superintendent, and Francis Copenhaver, Smyth County School Board Chairman.

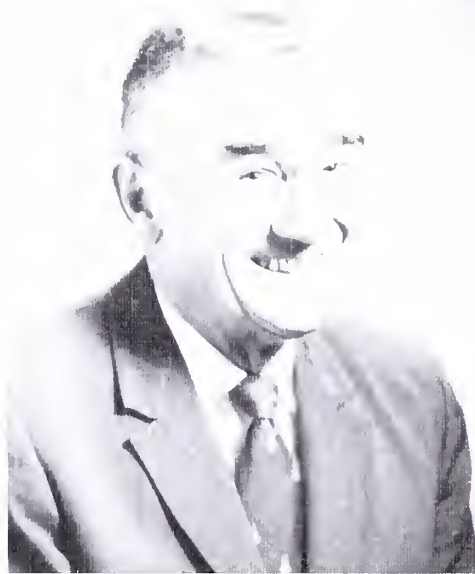

Mr. E. R. Thompson, Smyth County Director of Instruction, and Mr. Harlan Pafford, Smyth County High School Supervisor.

Principal

Mr. Henry, Mr. Williams, and Mr. Goodman plan for next year.

MR. HOWARD W. WILLIAMS

Mr. Harkins and Mr. Earp confer with Mr. Williams about athletic events.

Excedrin Headache #1970.

Mr. Williams, as principal of MSHS, wore many hats. Assisted by Mr. Henry and Mr. Goodman, he oversaw the behavior and goals of the students. Mr. Williams conferred with the athletic department as part of his many duties.

The tremendous tasks of administering school policy, co-ordinating various activities, and directing the future path of MSHS were the primary functions of our principal. Mr. Howard Williams also formed a vital link between the school and the community.

Administration

MR. LAYTON D. HENRY

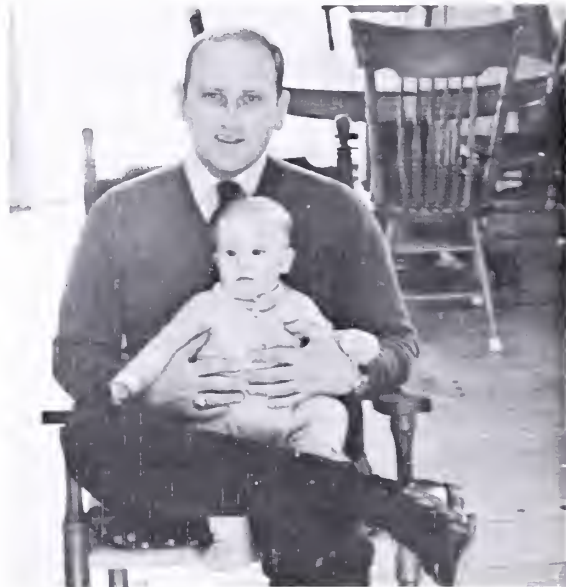

Mr. Henry helps Bonita Farmer, Monnie Richardson, and Jeri Deel with their problems.

As assistant principal, Mr. David Henry was best with two great problems: Attendance and Discipline. To him fell the tasks of excusing absences, administering the discipline system, and correcting parking problems. Even at home, Mr. Henry's duties continued. Layton Henry, Jr. was our vice-principal's youngest responsibility.

Mr. Henry never seems to get his work finished.

Discipline begins at home.

Guidance

The Guidance Department is composed of Mrs. Courtney, Mr. Goodman, Mrs. Linkous, Mrs. Winters, and Mrs. Echols.

MR. CHARLES F. GOODMAN, JR.

The new head counselor of the guidance office was Mr. Goodman. He was assisted by the four class sponsors, who worked together with him to improve the opportunities open to every student.

The searching student could find useful information on career possibilities in this department. Mr. Goodman's own future looked bright as he held his young son.

Guidance begins at home.

Mr. Goodman advises Bill Odham on future plans.

Office Personnel

The office staff helped the administrators with the enormous paper work that is essential to an organized educational system. Mrs. Katherine Williams and Mrs. Byrd were unceasingly helpful in these days of red tape and numerous forms awaiting completion. Wendy May, Barbara Call, Sandra Johnson and Susan Tilson were student assistants who increased the office efficiency.

MRS. HELEN BYRD

Mrs. Williams keeps up the office correspondence.

Mrs. Byrd is often called upon to type tests for teachers.

Library

This year, Mrs. Joan Britton has become Miss Trula Fleenor's helper in the care of library materials. Together, they kept the library orderly and prepared for the increased space in the new addition. Teachers and students alike used the library to enrich their experiences through meetings or individual study.

Supplementary Courses

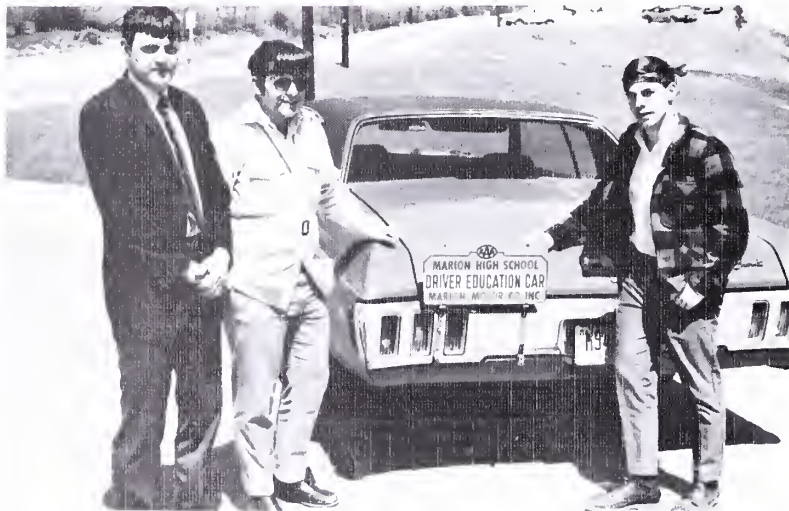

Remedial reading classes make use of their specialized equipment.

Drivers' Education, an important skill in today's world, was given by Mr. Crowder, Miss Duncan, Mrs. Loupe, and Mr. Weaver. Special tutoring was instituted by Mrs. Currin. Mrs. French aided those who wanted to improve their reading skills.

Johnny Russell and James Corvin benefit from Mrs. Currin's tutoring.

Coach Weaver prepares to teach Gary Hall and Carl Elledge the fundamentals of driving.

Cafeteria and Maintenance Personnel

The cafeteria staff, bus drivers, and custodial staff played a significant part in the efficient running of the school. The cafeteria staff prepared the nutritious meals each day. The bus drivers provided transportation to and from school. The custodial staff maintained MSHS in top condition for classes and special events.

Mrs. Fouse slices ham for lunch.

MRS. DORIS CLAWSON
Dietician

Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Powell, and Mrs. Barton are prepared for the onslaught of hungry students.

Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Hancock keep those rolls coming.

Mr. Wymer, Mr. DeFriece, and Mr. Aker, is it really that boring?

Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Powell, and Mrs. Killen make rolls for the hungry students.

English and Social Studies

Alan Linkous, Nancy Parsons, Linda Clawson, and David Killinger arrange a bulletin board for Mrs. Courtney.

The English classes learn grammar skills and study great literature as they learn the importance of our language. In addition, the students learn to exercise their own abilities. Ninth graders prepare book reports as a means of self-expression. To develop creativity, tenth graders write compositions on their favorite subjects. Eleventh graders are introduced to the proper methods of writing research papers. Twelfth graders define and complete their knowledge of English.

Ben Franklin electrifies Mrs. Burton's Junior English class.

Mr. Winters' Senior English class has informal discussions on literary periods.

Widen Horizons

Mr. Harkins points out figures of government spending to Karon Knipp and Phyllia Miracle.

U.S. History and World History give students a knowledge of the past on which to found a basis to evaluate the present. Current affairs are integrated with the courses as a continuation of previous events.

World Geography, U.S. Government, and Economics classes study the world of today to learn their duties as citizens and members of society. An interesting sidelight this year was the visit of Mr. Bastiani, a member of the State Department who spoke in classes and an assembly.

Mr. Carl Bastiani talked to MSHS students about world affairs.

The World Geography class learns facts about "our scenic world."

The Economics class labors over 1040 tax forms.

Cultural Arts

"Ella Tiene" is the correct answer to question ten.

French students, like Kenny Hutton, finally get a permanent teacher.

At present, three foreign languages are taught at MSHS: Latin, Spanish, and French. First year courses involve the fundamentals of the language, while the advanced courses proceed to the history and culture of the peoples who speak the language. These courses aim to further communication between people of different lands by bridging the language barrier.

John Shupe points out the philosophy of Terence to some Latin I scholars.

Extend Experiences

The Music Appreciation class enjoys their studies of various musical periods.

Music Appreciation, through the study of music's history and composition, enriches the students in the culture of music. Beginning art students learn the basic techniques in handicraft. Second- and third-year artists apply these techniques as they develop their talent. Examples of their work are entered in competition. The Speech and Dramatics class strives to develop self-confidence and an appreciation of the theater. Young actors and orators gain valuable acting experience and advice on techniques of public speaking.

Art students work hard on their creations while Mrs. Linkaus offers encouragement.

Members of the Speech and Dramatics class excel in pantomimes.

Mary Rowland entertains the Speech and Dramatics class with an animated story.

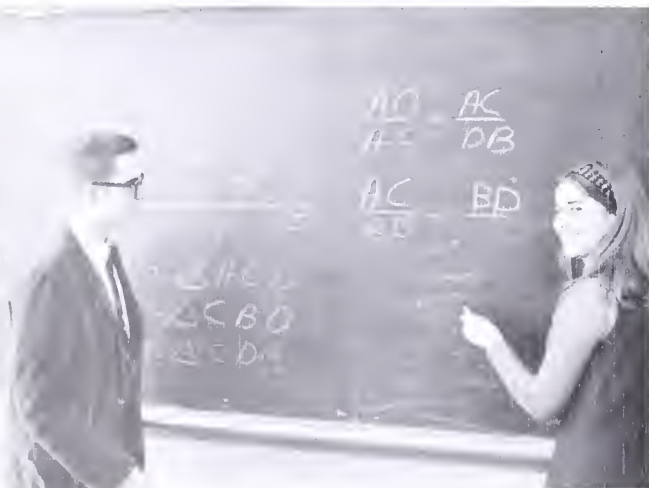

Mathematics and Science

Mr. Fisher helps Larry Norman with a Refresher Math problem.

There are more ways than one to teach Algebra according to Mr. Earp.

Barbara Rouse, Junior Ball, and Michelle Guy try to solve a geometry problem.

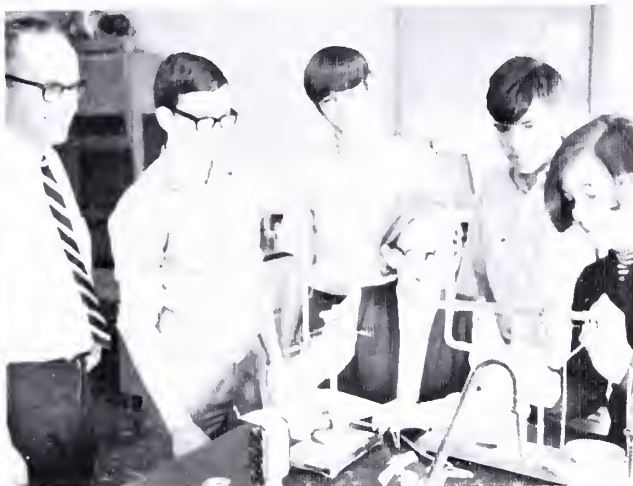

Math, the language of science, plays a vital part in technology and business. Refresher Math reviews basic principles of numbers and forms a foundation for further studies. General Math courses offer a well-rounded program of essential math information. Geometry, the study of shapes and figures, introduces new concepts and methods of arithmetic.

Algebra I adapts pupils to the manipulation of variables. College-bound students advance in their abilities through Algebra II and Math Analysis. Algebra II deepens the concepts of Algebra I, while Math Analysis delves into the reasoning behind accepted theories.

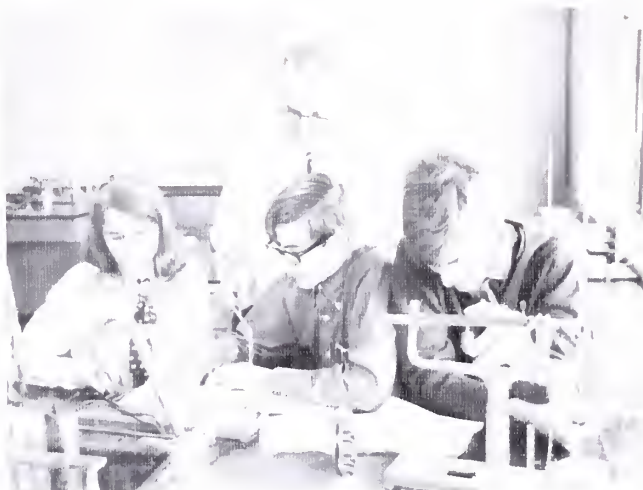

Don Beville and Mary Rowland concentrate on a Math Analysis test.

Stimulate Intellectual Growth

Accurate measurements are necessary for the success of Chemistry experiments.

Advanced Chemistry students work together on problems.

Science begins with the scientific attitude which is taught in General Science. Biology and Advanced Biology classes study the anatomy and physiology of animals and plants.

Lectures and experiments form the bulk of the Chemistry and Advanced Chemistry courses in the composition, properties, and uses of materials. The principles of matter, energy, and the transformation of energy come under close scrutiny in Physics.

Insects surely are funny-looking!

Determining heat of vaporization in Physics is a group effort.

Lab period in Advanced Biology is a hectic time.

Fitness is Stressed

Thank goodness, they are not the varsity!

Chris Collver demonstrates a handstand to the Advanced Phys. Ed. class.

Physical Education girls learn grace and coordination through tumbling.

Determining reaction time is an interesting part of Driver's Education.

Physically and Practically

The Home Economics course is divided into five units: cooking, sewing, home management, preparation for marriage, and child care. Girls are provided with the information and skills they need to become good homemakers. The Betty Crocker Home-maker Award, presented to an outstanding senior girl in Home Economics, was given to Judy Fuller this year.

The homemakers of tomorrow learn sewing skills today.

Wonder where hem lengths will be next year?

Patty McNeely is getting acquainted with kitchen appliances.

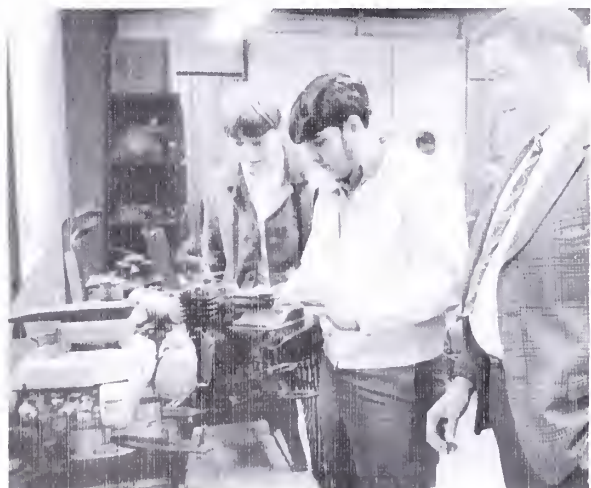

Students Increase

Careful nurturing of plants like these carnations is important in Ornamental Agriculture.

Basic agricultural techniques are studied in the classroom.

Lemuel Romans and Mike Hamby, members of the Agriculture Mechanics class, repair a broken engine.

General Agriculture boys learn efficient methods of farm production. Students of Ornamental Agriculture practice landscaping and learn other methods of raising plants effectively. The Agriculture Mechanics class studies the sales and service of farm equipment.

Many types of farm equipment are available for study.

Manual Aptitudes

General Mechanics is an exploratory course in welding and woodworking. General Shop students plan and carry out construction projects while learning proper methods of machine operation. Power Mechanics deals with a study of the automobile—the operation and repair of its mechanical parts. Students in Mechanical Drawing classes expand their knowledge of sizes, shapes, and their representation on paper.

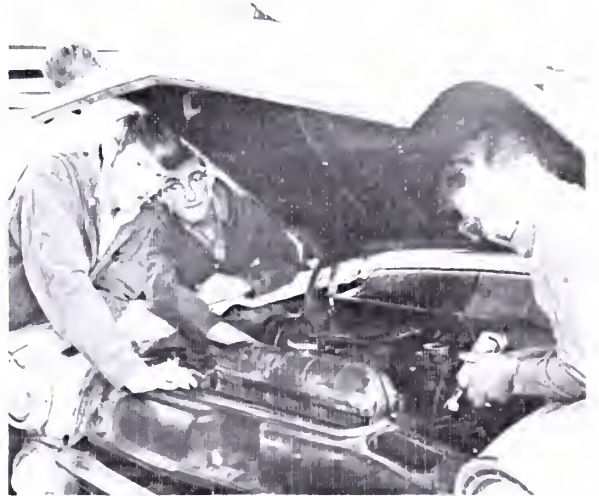

Future engineers and draftsmen work on their designs in Mechanical Drawing class.

Gale Ross and Rex Barker heat metal to be tempered.

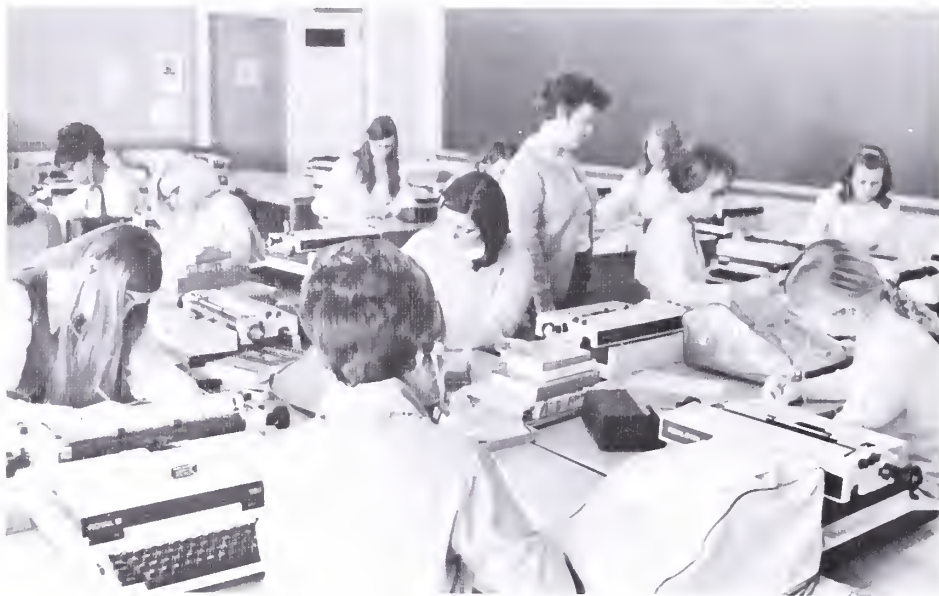

Mr. Vicars examines Randy Clawson's craftsmanship in General Shop class.

Ronnie McKinnon, Edward Cressel, and Larry Teaster display their automotive skills.

Students Prepare

Miss Wolfenden looks on while Shorthand students take dictation.

Typing requires a lot of concentration.

Typing I teaches the basic techniques for personal and office style typing. In Typing II, a deeper study is taken and the students are introduced to electric typewriters. The Clerical courses requires two years of typing and two of the following: General Business, Bookkeeping, or Recordkeeping. Two years each of Typing and Shorthand train future secretaries for the business world.

Miss Igo demonstrates proper techniques in keeping accurate records.

General Business students learn about advertising.

To Reach Out

The VOT girls display many business skills.

Practical application of business skills is found in the Vocational Office Training program when students use their talents in a part-time job. In-class instruction reviews and evaluates the students' work.

Distributive Education offers a valuable knowledge of marketing and distribution with the aid of on-the-job training. Classroom discussions, district competitions, and workshops stimulate interest while they teach.

DE students learn the fundamentals of a cash register.

This year our school was host for the All-State Band on January 30-February 1. Many MSHS band students also were selected to play in this event.

Classes

Students formed the bulk of the school's population; for their benefit the school was built and operated. To them belonged the greatest challenge—to reach out and grasp the impending future.

The Class of '70

Being first in the lunch line; worrying about a Senior Scholastic quiz in government; showing off the most beautiful Senior ring in the world; memorizing lines for the Senior Play; leaving all assemblies before the underclassmen; heading the SCA and the school publications; learning how to walk with a tassel that keeps falling in one's face; all this was part of being a Senior. There were many privileges, but also numerous responsibilities. At all times the Seniors reached out to better themselves and to help their fellow students at Marion Senior High School.

Laughing at underclassmen; wondering if the weather's right for a chemistry quiz; deciding whether to get red or blue, smooth or cut stones; discovering the fun of putting on a play; presenting the Seniors with the Junior-Senior Prom; staying up the night before College Boards worrying; wondering if you'll be tapped for the Beta Club; trying out for the Varsity team for the first time; selling candy; applying for early admittance and praying that you'll be accepted; all this was part of being a Junior. For a Junior there were many decisions to be made, for the world—the future—was, and is, before them. They must reach out to obtain their goals, for the fruits of success hang high.

Student Activities

Clubs were the main way our school reached out to the community. Special events helped each person to extend his talents, creating a more complete individual.

SCA

It has been said that "a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?" This easily could have been the motto for the Student Cooperative Association at MSHS this past year. The members of the SCA and its vital committees strived continuously to make MSHS a school of which we can all be proud.

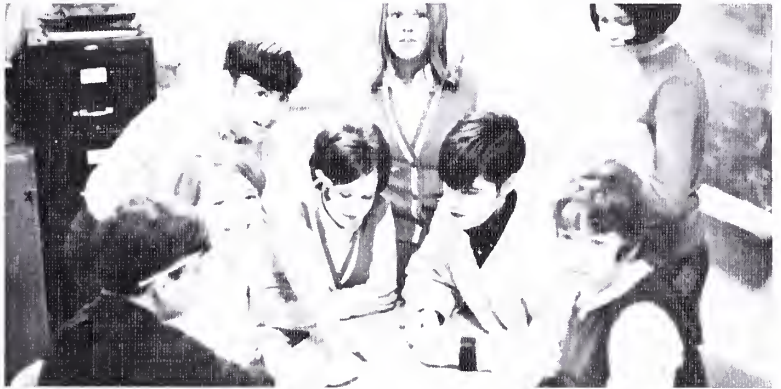

Foreign Exchange The Foreign Exchange Committee worked diligently in preparation for the arrival of the first foreign exchange student at MSHS in the 1970-71 school year. Chairman Brad Walker and Jeff Snider recorded Foreign Exchange Association membership cards which were sold to the public. Brad confers with Mr. George Pyle, chairman of the American Field Service Marion Chapter.

The School's Reach

Charity Drive The SCA "socked" it to the student body by presenting the rollicking western Cat Ballou. Proceeds from this money-raising project were donated to worthy charities in the area. It seemed students weren't the only ones who enjoyed the privilege of eating in the auditorium.

Dime Drag On the Cafeteria Board Speedway, the Freshman Class proved to be the richest class around as they zoomed across the finish line. Each class contributed to the checkered flag. Money from this event also went to various charities.

Citizenship Committee Linda Lampkins, chairman of the Citizenship Committee, and Cindy Schwartz worked hard each month choosing and preparing certificates for the "Citizen of the Month" awards. These girls did an excellent job of selecting the best citizens at MSHS.

Patriotism Last fall the Patriotism Committee planted around our school American Flags to remind the students of their American heritage. Linda Fuller and Fred Sprinkle were also responsible for opening home ball games with the National Anthem and the Pledge of Allegiance.

MSHS Discovers That

Bulletin Board The bulletin boards which mysteriously appeared from time to time on the walls of MSHS were largely the work of Betsy Callan and Shirley Bomers. But underneath the gay tapestry the girls were telling it like it was by urging the students to make the best of their school years.

Scholastic Letter The SCA and the Beta Club jointly sponsored the presentation of the Scholastic Awards. Beth Buchanan was kept busy compiling list after list of students who took the competitive tests which she had ordered. The lucky winners were recognized with Scholastic Award cups.

Handbook Thanks to the efforts of Susan Burnside and Susan Parks the SCA was able to present the new students of MSHS with the Swamp Fox on the first day of school. They also provided revision sheets for the former copies of the upper classmen.

Name Tags During Orientation Week, students and faculty were presented with tags bearing their names and indicating their classes. These distinctive tags enabled the student body and the faculty to become better acquainted.

Club members also collected money to elect Basketball Queen and King. Since one penny counted as one vote, Jackie Burkett and Tommy Plummer must have had the richest friends. "Who me! Yes! Yes, I'm Bach."

"Rome After

First things come first.

The excitement came early to the juniors as they hoped to present the best prom ever at MSHS. The weeks of planning and decision came to a climax as the decorations began to arrive and be assembled. The efforts and talents of the following juniors: Beth Morrell, Pam Russell, Donita Sale, Fred Sprinkle, Cindy Schwartz, Nancy Mauck, Margaret Linkous, Anne Hull, Gwyn McCarty, Janet Meek, Cindy Ellis, and Gary Price; and many others contributed to the excellency of that special night.

The work is just beginning.

Everyone knows that "Rome wasn't built in a day."

Was it this easy for the Romans?

The juniors and seniors waltzed by the night-lights of Rome on April 18 as the juniors presented the graduating class with "Rome After Dark." The gala event was highlighted by a setting of old Rome, complete with majestic columns and fountain. Its romance was accented by the starlit sky. Just as Rome is called "the Eternal City," the 1970 Junior-Senior Prom left lasting memories of a beautiful night.

The prom was presented by Jesse Owens, junior class president and Kim Jensen, to Roger Adams, Senior class president, and Susan Umbarger.

Flowers bloom in the fountain of love (Romance).

"The Hard Times" gave a modern sound to ancient Rome.

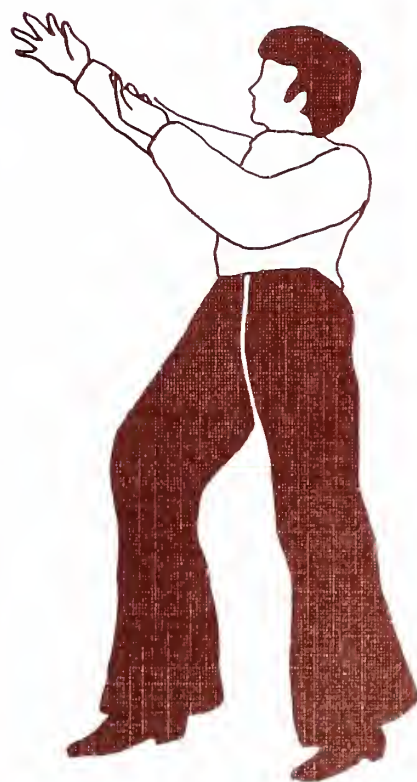

These prom-goers traded Roman togas for a more formal attire (and a good time).

Sports

A person extends himself not only by thinking, but by doing. Sports offered an excellent opportunity for action education in an enjoyable way.

Hurricane Houses

"Hurricane House, you couldn't look better!"

Inside Hurricane House, Hurricane People enjoy its fine facilities.

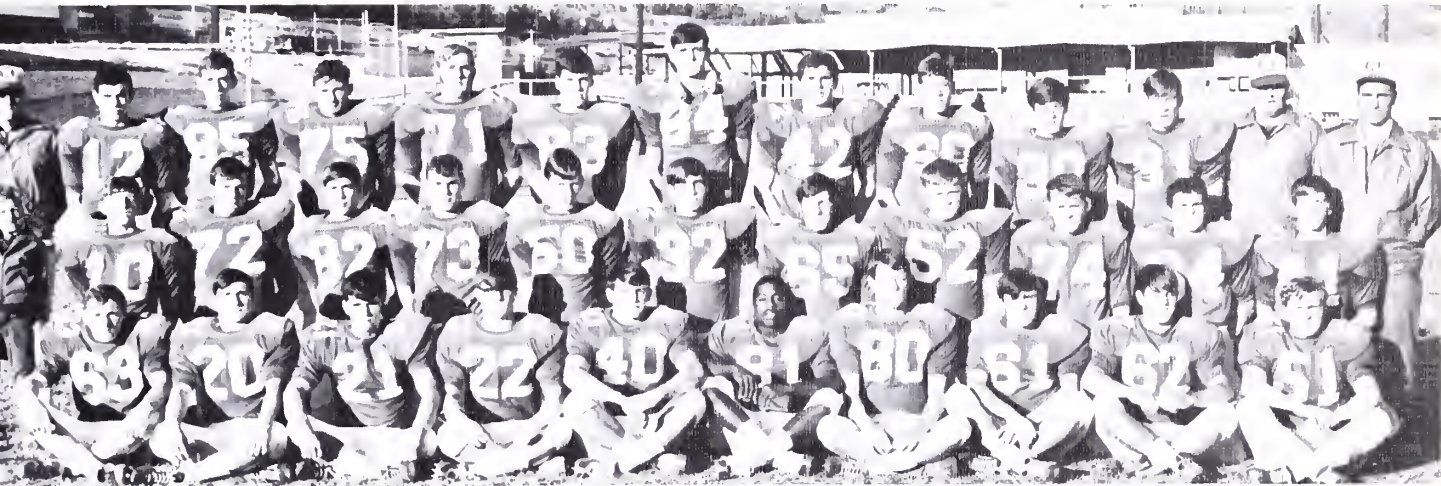

The field house provides for the many outdoor sports.

This year at MSHS the athletic department reached out to provide better facilities for the students. The new gym, one of the most modern and best equipped facilities in Virginia, was a much needed and a much wanted improvement for the school. "Hurricane House," the completion of a $500,000 project, was the realization of a dream of nearly twelve years.

"Hurricane House" has many wonderful characteristics. The new gymnasium offers a spacious floor for sports games and a seating capacity of up to 3,000 people. It also provides for the programs of the physical education department. The electric scoreboard is the only one of its kind in this part of the country. Large, colorful murals of the cage stars are placed in the lobby, which contains a compact refreshment stand. There is also a balcony which has bleachers to accommodate approximately 600 people. Because of all these assets, the County and Southwest District Basketball Tournaments were held here.

The fieldhouse was completed in time for the football team to start using it at the beginning of the school year. This building made it easier for the teams by having the dressing rooms nearer the field. The modern fieldhouse also contains a coach's office and a concession stand.

'69-'70 Scarlet Hurricane football team started spectators with its dynamic performance under the coaching of Wild Bill Earp. The 7-3 record proved to Southwest Virginia that the Hurricane was still coming on strong.

Bounding forth, the Scarlet Hurricane sextet brought MSHS recognition as they trounced their opponents to net a 9-3 record. Under the influence of our new coach Jeannie Duncan, the Varsity squad learned many techniques which have enabled them to extend their knowledge and skill in basketball. Their efforts were further encouraged by the enthusiastic support of the fans. The Junior Varsity team racked up an undefeated season. Girls basketball had become a part of the winning team of '70.

Wrestling offered the individual, more than any other school sport, a chance to perform on his own. This year Moe's Matmen captured the District Championship for the fourth consecutive year. They also piled up an impressive tally of 52 successive victories, which set a new State record. Rusty Sneed, Don Cosgrove, Gerald Blevins, and Jesse Owens represented the team in the State contests in Arlington.

It looks like another pin for Don Cosgrove.

Johnny Johnson is quite involved in his wrestling.

Give Grapplers a New State Record

We honor Gerald Blevins for placing first in the regionals two straight years.

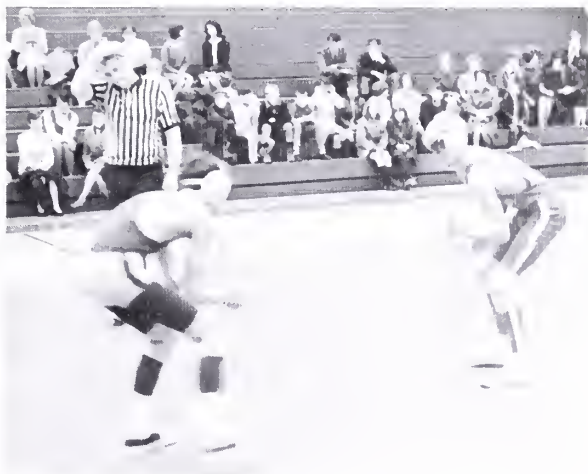

"I've got you now!"

David Echols is announced the winner after a hard scramble.

"When I say down, I mean DOWN!"

Strategy as well as strength is important in wrestling.

Undefeated Bobby Blevins does it again.

FRONT ROW: Lee Graybeal—Co-Head, Carol Tate—Head, Dixie Olinger. SECOND ROW: Lacy Werth, Pat Smythe, Ann Froehling, Janet Meek, Tina Nelson, Linda DeHart, Carolyn Snider.

Amidst the chants of "Marion has go-o-o power!" and "Freeze, 2 . . . 3 . . . 4!" ten vivacious spirit-raisers have been busy spreading the good word about the Marion teams. These junior and senior girls have put forth great efforts to promote school spirit. This year the cheerleaders have done an outstanding job in making posters for the halls, distributing cupcakes for the players, and activating enthusiasm in pep rallies.

Head Cheerleader Carol Tate has reason to smile after the Hurricane wins again.

"Our team is GREAT!"

J.V.'s and Pom-Pomers Spread Spirit

The Junior Varsity cheering squad at MSHS had quite an important role. It was their responsibility to attend all J. V. games, cheer at pep rallies, assist the Varsity squad, and create spirit and good sportsmanship. Having made their debut in new, red uniforms, these cheerleaders, sponsored by Mrs. Burton, have made MSHS proud of its junior teams.

The newest and freshest approach to half-time entertainment at Hurricane House came in the form of the Scarlettes. These pom-pom girls, dressed in red and white uniforms, provided spectators with original dance routines. The squad directed by Mrs. Jane Weaver has found a definite place in MSHS's sports department.

Many local businesses desire students who will bring determination to part-time jobs. An employee or customer who has learned to enlarge the scope of his activities by hard work and ingenuity has learned the secret of success—to do more than what one is expected to do, to reach out.

144 SENIORS VISIT WILLIAMSBURG AND WASHINGTON, D.C.

To reach out, to look to the future, that was the goal of the 1969-70 school year. It was a year of tests, a year of triumphs, a year of sorrows, and a year of decisions. Although you as students may not have been aware of this, we hope that when you look back through this annual you will realize what a great year it really was. We, the Staff of REACH OUT '70 hope that you will continue to reach for that unreachable star and hope that one day you will attain it.

Jeressa, been great

It's been great
knowing you these years.
No one could have a better friend than you. Good luck when you go to college. Remember me and I'm praying for ya.
God bless!
